Fellowships

What's the purpose?

Fellowships are short term programs that can last anywhere from a few months to a few years. Unlike internships, fellowships generally come with paid stipends. They could also have additional perks, including paid housing, benefits, or health care. The focuses of fellowships are typically professional development and/or academic research. While most fellowships are found on the graduate or postgraduate level, there are certainly opportunities available for undergraduate students.

While fellowships can have competitive application processes, don't be intimidated! Interviewing for and landing a fellowship is a wonderful experience, resume builder, and opportunity to network with professionals in your industry. For many companies, working as a fellow can be your foot in the door and could potentially lead to a full time position.

What's the difference?

Fellowships vs. Internships

	Fellowships	Internships
Purpose	Prof. Development, Research	Professional Experience
Length	Range: A Few Months to Years	Summer, Semester, School Year
Compensation	Stipends, Possible Benefits	Paid or Unpaid
Availability	Competitive, Mostly Grad	Competitive, Grad and Undergrad

Where to look

While the fellowship search might seem stressful, there are several places you can start looking to find opportunities. These include:

- This Guide! This guide should be a good starting point for you to find fellowships. While the data in this guide reflects 2022 information, it is meant to be a starting point and is NOT all inclusive.
- Handshake. SPHTM Career Services and Handshake employers will post fellowship opportunities in the system. Use the job filter "Fellowships" to find these opportunities.
- Employers, Non Profit Organizations, Foundations, and Government Entities will often sponsor, fund, and recruit fellows. Examples include CDC, Oak Ridge Institute for Science and Education, and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Be sure to check organization websites for more details.
- NAFCAS. The National Council on Administrative Fellowships (NCAF) offers a centralized application service to simplify the application process for fellowship applicants and administrative fellowship sites. NAFCAS stands for the National Administrative Fellowship Centralized Application Service.
